1. Several Nanking University School of Engineering graduates are being prevented by Nanking Communist authorities from leaving the city. They have five-year contracts to work in heavy industries in Manchuria.*
2. Chinese newsmen, who have joined the Southwest Service Corps, are being indoctrinated in Nanking. During a discussion the group leader was asked if Russia were not imperialist. The leader replied that the question would have to be referred to Peiping.
3. All school principals of Nanking were recently summoned by the Education Bureau of the Military Control Commission and told to keep their pupils from chanting rhymes about how food is scarcer and more expensive since the Communists took over. At this meeting mention was also made of erroneous references to Russian imperialism.

Comment. It is believed such jealous retention of technical men is common among authorities in Communist areas.
